of college students reported they had felt overwhelmed by everything they had to do at some point within the past year.¹

41.6%

stated anxiety as the top presenting concern among college students.²

24.5%

of college students reported they were taking psychotropic medication.²

FIND HELP

Most college and university campuses have mental health resources available for students.

ON-CAMPUS

- Visit your campus health or counseling center and ask about their counseling services.
- Call the psychology or behavioral health department and ask about counseling sessions with graduate students.
- Visit your school's chaplain, religious or spiritual leader.
- Confide in a friend, RA, professor or mentor. Ask him or her to go with you to seek professional help.

OFF-CAMPUS

- Visit your family physician, who may be able to treat you or refer you to a professional who specializes in the specific disorder.
- Confide in a parent or relative. Ask him or her to support your efforts in finding help.
 - Search the ADAA "Find a Therapist" database for a mental health professional in your area.
- Find a local support group. Many counseling centers, hospitals, community centers, and places of worship run or host support groups.
